

MOLD in Orlando Homes can cause health problems.

Health Issues range from itching eyes, sneezing and coughing to serious allergic reactions, asthma attacks and even permanent lung damage. And what many people do not know is that mold could be growing in their homes right now. I've gone into houses that are so neat and clean there's not even a teacup out of place. Then I go into the basement and find mold growing on the legs of the furniture. Mold in a house is most often found on walls, floors, ceilings, carpets and fabrics exposed to moisture, one particularly troublesome hiding place is inside the ductwork and associated components of central forced-air heating and air-conditioning systems. You want to make sure the whole system is cleaned thoroughly.
